Ljubljana, Slovenia – 12th March 2007 – Cocoasoft, Ltd., leading developer of cutting edge mobile games, has launched the third series of adventures Eon the Dragon which is the most recognizable character and brand in the Cocoasoft games portfolio. Colorful, cartoon-like graphic that were excellently accepted in the previous Eon the Dragon games now come with increased color and greater detail. It is an entirely new experience for a broad range of players who enjoy adventures packed with action and puzzles. Previous two Eon the Dragon games have reached many top selling places on the mobile media portals including Vodafone Live, T-Mobile, Jamba etc. in the past few years while competing with many international movie and media brands.

The latest story will lead Eon and his new friend into three entirely different landscapes, each of which is filled with different opponents that promise lasting action and new puzzles with even more combinations to tease the player's wits. The striking music score makes this adventure even more enjoyable and memorable.

Once again is Eon on a search for new adventures, this time with a new friend. The mysterious force will bring the once peaceful island to the verge of destruction. Together they will encounter new adventures, stumble across adversaries never seen before and travel across a number of exotic lands.

During game play hints and dialogs will help the player to advance and reveal the story as he progresses through the levels. The game has a progress auto save that enables the player to stop and start playing at any time. Easy navigation and intuitive gaming keys make the game easy to play even for new mobile players.

Feature list

- 17 levels filled with intuitive puzzles
- two main characters to choose from
- colorful and compelling graphics
- over 10 different types of opponents
- the game is accompanied by an addictive music score
